THE MEMENTO

This is the summary

Miss Rosalie Ray was a very beautiful young actress. All the men in the theatre got very excited when she went onto her swing every night. Every day she sang, she danced. She left the theatre after two years because she was tired of the men. She left the theatre and went to long island. She met a fine man-the reverend Arthur Lyle. She loved him. A month later they married. She was happy. But one morning the old woman told her that her husband was in love once before, and that it ended unhappily. When Lee knew in Arthur's mind, he loved the girl. Ever though he never met her, never spoke to her, he loved her. He kept a memento-something with belonged to the girl. She took out the box and opened it because she wanted to look at this memento, it was one of yellow garters in the box. She was so sad because she didn't tell Arthur that she was an actress. As Arthur didn't know that memento belonged to her, she packed her suitcase, she left.

DIALOGUE

-Rosalie: I'm tired of you looking at me, I'm leaving. Oh Arthur, since I arrived I'm very good with you. Will you marry me?

-Arthur: Yes I want.

Why did not you tell me you're an actress? I was not expecting this from you. Bye

-Rosalie: I'm sorry. So much.
